IBM Careers

Dear Komal, thank you for applying to the role of Associate System Engineer - 133547 with Candidate ID - 15142270 at IBM. We're excited that you're considering us as your next employer.

Here at IBM, we believe our greatest asset is the IBMer. We strive every day to foster a culture of conscious inclusion for all individuals and provide IBMers the opportunity to make a positive impact on the world while bringing their authentic selves to work.

To that end, we want to be as transparent as possible with you about what to expect next now that you've applied to IBM. Currently, your application is being reviewed by real IBMers, who are experts in screening resumes in their respective fields. If there's a potential match, we'll contact you to discuss the next steps of our hiring process.

While you wait to hear from us:

• Visit our special careers page to find tips on acing your interview and career advice from current IBMers. You can also check out our application process page to learn more about how we hire at IBM.

• Connect with us on our Life@IBM social media channels (links in the footer below) where you can engage with us further, discover what life at IBM is like, and see how IBMers around the world are making an impact.

You can also check the status of your application at any time by visiting your IBM Career Portal . If you have any questions, please feel free to send us a direct message on any of our social channels.

Thank you again, Komal, for taking the time to apply to IBM and for your interest in becoming a future IBMer.

Best regards,
IBM Talent Acquisition Team
